Weekly Market Update

Primary market environment: Incidents in the Red Sea, the attack in Iran with numerous deaths and injuries and the worsening situation in Israel are weighing on market sentiment. In addition, there is talk of possibly over-exaggerated expectations of interest rate cuts.

Primary market barometer

SSAs

The SSA segment got off to a good start with ample volumes and high demand. However, as was the case at the end of last year, state emissions show that pricing and the pricing process play a key role.

Covered Bonds

Strong start in the covered bond segment: 14 bonds for a total of EUR 13.25bn in 3 days. No less than 5 banks have tested and successfully implemented the 7-year maturity. Issue premiums are generally high and peaked at 10 bp.

Senior Unsecured

Issuers are wasting no time in starting the year with a flurry of new issues. As usual, some heavyweights are the first to raise capital. Transactions reach sizeable volumes. However, rising tensions in the Middle East weigh on sentiment towards the middle of the week and secondary market performance remains weak.

Risk trend indicator (heat map): Predominantly in risk-off mode

The market environment is challenging. Many investors and traders are de-risking in light of the news.

SSAs

The SSA segment started the year with a colourful bouquet of 9 bonds. German issuers led the field in terms of number of issues and - mainly due to KfW's coveted EUR 9bn dual tranche - in absolute terms, with the states of Lower Saxony and Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania, as well as KfW and Landwirtschaftliche Rentenbank (tap). The Netherlands was joined by Nederlandse Waterschapsbank and BNG with sustainable and social bonds, flanked by the Asian Development Bank (Green Bond) and KfW. Development Bank (green bond) and the Council of Europe Development Bank. The 10-year maturities were a factor in the range of maturities offered, but overall all transactions sold well to very well. Only the State of Mecklenburg-Western Pomerania's 8-year issue struggled with an initial guidance (marketing spread) of 11bp but ultimately managed to complete the transaction solidly.

Outlook: The primary market environment is constructive. Given the high funding volumes announced by SSA issuers (e.g. EIB EUR 60 bn, CADES EUR 20 bn, AFD EUR 8-9 bn), we expect strong issuance activity next week. The EFSF has invited banks to submit RfPs for an upcoming transaction. The next EU issue is scheduled for the week of 22 January.

Covered Bonds

As expected, the Covered Bond market has entered the usual seasonal primary market phase at full speed. The high number of 14 transactions so far, including 4 dual tranches, is certainly not surprising. The focus of the projects has also shifted up the yield curve, with 7 years dominating the market. The two French issuers, Credit Agricole Home Loan SFH and CRH, have shown that 10-year maturities are once again a good option. The results to date are certainly constructive (order book volumes, final results and, finally, the first quotes on the secondary market). An outlier was the Aareal Bank benchmark with a long 4-year maturity, which "In the secondary market, there are occasional swaps from "old" to "new". However, this does not lead to major distortions. Combined with a subsequent performance of new issues of up to 2 basis points, new and old bonds tend to converge on both sides. Turnover is, however, rather moderate. In the coming days and weeks, the market will continue to work its way through the primary market, setting the first reliable price points for the rest of the year."

Comment from the Helaba trading floor

struggled somewhat. A lower limit framework among investors certainly plays a role here. There is also much to suggest a continuing trend towards selective investment behaviour, not only at country level but also in terms of individual names.

EUR 2.5bn of the total EUR 13.25bn of new issuance in the first week of the year came from three green bonds, with Credit Agricole Home Loans SFH's EUR 1.25bn 10-year tranche being the largest. UniCredit Bank Austria achieved the highest oversubscription rate of 3.3 times with its EUR 750 million green bond at a bid spread of 47 bp (guidance: 55 bp). NORD/LB issued the first green Pfandbrief of the year (EUR 500 million). The bond generated demand of around EUR 850 million with a final spread of 38 bp (guidance: 42 bp).

Outlook: After the first series of major issuers entered the primary market this short week, other well-known issuers will do the same next week. By then, all market participants will have returned from the Christmas holidays and trading volumes are likely to pick up again.

Issuers are wasting no time in starting the year with a flurry of new issues. As usual, some heavy-weights are the first to tap fresh capital. Transactions are reaching very sizeable volumes. High initial price indications are shown to ensure execution. Bid spreads are pleasingly tighter in some cases, but secondary market performance is weak as market sentiment deteriorated towards the middle of the week. Noteworthy are the relatively long maturities, which are being rewarded by investors against the backdrop of the current interest rate peak.

Banco Santander raised an impressive EUR 5.4bn on the first trading day. It split the transaction into three tranches with four, six and ten-year maturities and a preferred ranking. BPCE issued EUR 3.25bn in a dual non-preferred tranche, of which EUR 1.85bn had a maturity of 11 years. Other names that have entered the primary market so far this week include top names such as BNP Paribas, UBS Group and Barclays. The total volume of EUR 12.75 billion was split into EUR 7.0 billion preferred and EUR 5.75 billion non-preferred.

„Secondary market performance was underwhelming. Issuers' outstanding bonds widened by 7-10bp on Wednesday alone. French non-preferred bonds traded +12 bp yesterday. US HoldCo bonds were the under-performer with +15bp. Secondary trading remains quiet overall, with many investors still on holiday. The strong year-end performance is doing the rest and cash is consolidating overall. Selective purchases of 2024 new issues are being priced extremely aggressively by dealers to reduce risk.“

Outlook: After a record year in 2023 with a primary market volume of around EUR 206bn in senior unsecured bonds, no slowdown is expected in 2024. In particular, high maturities and declining customer deposits will ensure high funding needs for issuers. Due to seasonal factors, a large proportion of the issuance will be placed in the first few weeks, so we expect high activity to continue in the coming days.
